Gentlemen:

We are forwarding herewith one copy of the new condensed Shop Manual covering repairs and adjustments to the various units in our four lines of cars.

This manual is profusely illustrated, the text is reduced to the minimum and the result is a very practical reference book for use by mechanics in their daily work on Packard cars.

This is the same manual that is being distributed to the Chilton list of outside shops and garages, in accordance with Mr. W. M. Packer's letter of January 7 to distributors. Since this manual is intended for the use of mechanics, it should be placed in the shop where it is available at all times. Bear in mind, it is a reference book and its usefulness is entirely destroyed unless it is convenient to the men who are actually working on the cars.

While we cannot furnish a manual for each mechanic, we do want you to have a sufficient number for effective use in your service department. Therefore, additional copies will be supplied upon request to Mr. N. A. Lull, Packard Motor Car Company, Detroit, Michigan.

Yours very truly,

PACKARD MOTOR CAR COMPANY
