Gentlemen:

We have just made distribution of revised pages for the Packard Eight Parts List, models 136 to 645 inclusive, which incorporate many new numbers that superseded numbers appearing on the old pages you removed from your book. In removing the old pages, destroying them and replacing them with the new, you lose to a certain extent the parts list information on some items which you may have in your stock and when future reference is made to these new pages which show these new numbers only, there is a possibility that you will not use the old stock you have on hand, unless the proper cross-reference is made.

For your information, we are sending you a list showing piece numbers which appeared on the old pages and the superseding piece numbers which appeared on the new pages. This list is set up in three different sections and we suggest that you check your records and where necessary, mark your records according to the instructions heading each group.

Both your old and new records should be properly cross-referenced. Do not order under the new number until you have checked your records and stock under the old number to see if it is possible to use it.

Very truly yours,

PACKARD MOTOR CAR COMPANY
